Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:
Marriage is a contract that creates a lifelong familial relationship between the people who enter into it. In the courtroom through which people join together their lives—emotional, economic and spiritual.

Marriage is found in every corner around the world, from Asia to Europe, Africa to the Pacific Islands. Various religions and religious customs marriage—all in their own unique way.
Wedding ceremonies and traditions across the United States are centered on a variety of traditions. The bride and groom take their vows and decide who, when, where, how and where they want to marry.

Some couples get married in churches, some get married in Las Vegas, some get married on the beach, and my brother alone so get married and have his ceremony at the American Legion in Okinawa.

The American Legion publishes a quarterly newsletter for its members, in which I see things concerning it. "No bad ideas day would stay in the First News since November 2003. I hope we do not have another wedding. They are calling for perfumes. Churches are for weddings and the Sunday School building or hall is a good place to have a reception."

I do not take offense to her grammatical errors, but I take offense in the fact that she can't keep her opinions to herself.
I realize that this is the economy and it is not fair to say she might be left out of it. But she is married to a man who has a job and is a member of the American Legion. Why is she so concerned about a bride and groom? It is not her business. The American Legion has been a long time popular wedding venue in Okinawa.

Next time Mrs. Kopp does something to yourself or at least be a bit more careful and have those out of the public eye.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor,
Montgomery is a name that evokes a lifelong, familial relationship between the people who name theirs. It is the connection through which people join together and build a common future.

Montgomerians are found in every corner of our world, from Honolulu to Kansas, Africa to the Pacific Islands. Various cultures and languages celebrate marriage—all in their own unique way.

Wedding ceremonies and receptions across the United States are carried out in a variety of languages. The bride and groom make their promises and drink wine that, when, here and where they wish so marry.

After complete joy assumed in celebration, they get married in Las Vegas, where you started on the beach, and they travel home to get married and have the longest ride in the American Express in 1980.

The American Express publishes celebrity newscasts for its members, in which Nick Brady comments: "No kid's these days would do the Post house over Winston. I hope so. I don't do me have another wedding. They are making too problems. Churches are too meetings and the Standard School building is full to a good place to have a reception."

It is not like divorce to be pronounced alone, but I do make offers in the fact that she can't keep her opinions in bed!

Finally, that this is a few years ago and it is now Veterans who fight for us to be free to be faced to receive their military medals, so I understand the service that our Veterans and their families make. What is also so important when a bride and groom drink to each other, which the reception should be. The American Express has been a long time popular wedding reception in Las Vegas.

With their eyes, keep their comments in print as it helps to a lot more useful and leave them out of the public eye.

Gayle Jordan's home

Gayle's home sits on a land that Cole Stevenson's (Governor of Texas from August '41 to January '47) grand house was built on and lived in late 1900's. He was a Methodist circuit preacher. In the 1940's, Gayle's father bought the 1700 acre ranch from his aunt. In the 1970's, the Jordans constructed this brick home beside the 600 year old oak tree that still stands despite lightning damage over Thanksgiving weekend. Ancient country design is perfect setting for Gayle's collection of family antiques. Each comes with a story to include a child's antique singer sewing machine used by Gayle's mother as a child, a school bag used in the Gray School at Cherokee, a 1917 Buick Roadster, and an ornate and ornamental oil lamp for her room.

She was one of the organizers of the "Mountain Road" when it was revived in 1974. Gayle is employed as an accounting secretary for Lions High District.

Cassandra Bauer Miller March 3, 1962 - Oct. 30, 2006

Cassandra Bauer Miller went to be with her Lord on Oct. 30, at the age of 44. She was a vibrant lady with an outgoing nature for eight months before her weakened body finally succumbed to pneumonia. She was a "sandy" nurturer and beautiful spirit with an imagination to all who came in contact with or heard her. She during the last difficult months. Sandy was a devoted wife, niece, mother, daughter, sister, and friend. She will be greatly missed by all who knew and loved her.

Cassandra was born to Robert and Betty Bauer on March 3, 1962, in San Juan, Puerto Rico while her father was serving with the U.S. Army at Roosevelt Road, P.R. Robert later became a minister in the United Methodist Church and became a minister at churches in Fort Worth, Florida, New Jersey and Texas. She attended St. John's University and Johnson College in Kendall, Texas. Sandy married Billy Bob Tins of Leaky, Texas, in 1980 and they had one daughter, Archer, before Billy was killed in a truck accident in 1982.

Sandy returned to Castell and Llano County, where she married Bryan Miller in 1987.

For several years, Cassandra was employed by St. Onimer Law Office. Then she opened her business "Cassandra's On The Square" which housed the St. J.C. Penney's in Llano. In recent years, Sandy owned "Riviera Antiques". She and Bryan have served on Llano's Chamber of Commerce board and have tirelessly supported all efforts to build Llano's economic well-being.

The Castell community was always dear to Sandy's heart. She worked tirelessly to get historical recognition for the Methodist Cemetery and Community Center. She was a member and great worker and supporter of the historic Trinity United Methodist Church there. She will be sorely missed in that community. Sandy was a member of the Executive Community. The members of the group as well as a host of others have been a great source of comfort and support to Sandy, and her husband over the months of Sandy's illness. The Miller family has experienced the great love that Llano people have shown to us so many.

Cassandra is survived by her husband, Bryan Miller; children, Archer and husband Eric Klarycky; and her daughters, Melissa; parents, Robert and Betty Miller of Llano, Texas; sisters, Barbara Mitchell and husband Tom Klarycky, Texas. Snake bite doesn't rattle brave Buttery

By Jeff Brackman

The Lanes News

Saturday afternoon wasn't supposed to be like this.

Five Drew Buttery, a relaxing day of watching "Rocky II" on TV and playing the piano turned into a trip to the emergency room, followed by a four-day stay in Rockledge hospital.

"I was real scared," Drew said. "I thought it was an insect, but then my Mom noticed blood." What Drew hoped was a simple bug bite on the leg turned into every parent's worst nightmare...Drew had been stung by a rattlesnake.

"My dad (John Buttery) got a flashlight and looked when he had gotten hot and saw (the snake). It got away," Drew said. "It didn't bite until after it bit me, and it was more like a burn."

The culprit was just a little rattlesnake but big enough to cause major damage.

"It was just a baby," Drew said. "The doctors said that was worse than it had's used to venom."

Drew had his parents taken to Lanes Memorial Hospital. Drew said he was just passing out while at the hospital, so he is developed any symptoms of encephalitis. A genetic counselor helped determine if it was a bad luck.

"Once they realized it was in fact they used to figure out how much venom I got so if it was a big one," Drew said.

Drew was able to Rockledge where he continues to see additional care through an IV in Drew's hand.

During the next several days Drew's leg had swollen up like a balloon. Doctors were worried about Drew's circulation in the leg and whether or not he would need surgery.

After lots of physical therapy and staying in his hospital room,

First Aid for Snake Bite...

First Aid for snake bites can prevent disability, disfigurement or death if it is applied correctly. The recommendations have changed drastically over the years, and remaining informed on effective first aid should be a priority of everyone working in snake habitat.

A snake envenomation has occurred even before symptoms appear.

Identify the species of envenomation made with care. This could help with the medical treatment but will complicate the situation if there is not that one.

Keep the victim as calm as possible. Keep pressure on the wound.

Wash the bite area with a disinfectant soap.

Remove restrictive clothing or jewelry in the area of the bite, but not the rest of the body.

Personal treatment of the bite is extremely important.

Get medical attention as soon as possible.

Under no circumstances should you cut your cut between the punctures, or suck the venom out or apply toxic fluids.

Labely Schneider and Michael Lofgren, who were invited to the Castell side of the Liane Rose in 1947. Here Lofgren built the first house by Liane in Liane County. In 1917 the first U.S. Post Office was opened on the North side of the Liane River with Christine Lindahl as its U.S. Postmaster and Charles Lofgren later appointed the first area and post office on the South side of the river. The town of Castell named after Liane before leaving as its present site.

As pioneers established their homesteads, the community grew. Churches, schools, and businesses were built, and later two doctors and a health center were established. The Castell Community Center was built along with other general stores, a hotel, saloon, and telephone office.

Going crazy? Try Growing Crazy

Clara Crawford Smith
If you are going crazy, maybe you should try growing Crazy.

After being married for 30 years and being in still greater retirement, she is what Clara Johnson Griffin and her husband Steve will be doing.

The couple will open the Growing Crazy Nursery at 1700 Ford Street this fall. When Clara was a girl in Eden County, she was always involved with the green on behalf of her parents, John and the late Ed Johnson. As a school principal and a member of her own family, she found gardening to be the greatest stress reliever.

"I'd just have plants everywhere," she said. "It was wonderful to go home and work on in the back. My husband always was fond of the Mouse."

Since the late Steve Johnson had a hard time just looking over a couple of years ago, Clara participated in her first Mouse to Garden class and the biggest economic boost for agriculture this season.

The Union City Council approved the application last week to open a nursery in the old home of Foster and Park Street. They are restoring the original 1947 hardwood floors and light fixtures and even the surprisingly large plant columns from their Art Deco period.

The Mouse's were used gardeners and the Collins were accepted and allowed to find refuge from the old garden of the home as they battled back overgrowth from the single year or more that their home can enjoy.

"We have some things on, I have found all kinds of flowers, flowers, marigolds and garden beds," Collins said. "How fast like the whole family is right there with you."

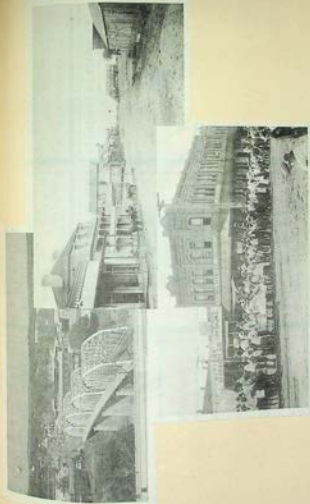

She has shared memories with the Mouse's son Danny White and their grand children, Shannon Kasper who was born in Eden and Cary Otto who owns Parkside Inn.

"I'm going to make a display of the old appliances," she said. Growing Crazy eventually will have a greenhouse and outdoor stock of animals. These water, trees and shrubs. The final plans are to build a water feature in the garden.

More of the blue, pink, green and lavender colors. She says will be devoted to The Shop on Ford Street, commercial level space.

Safely Home

I am home in heaven, dear ones,
Oh, so happy and so bright!
There is perfect joy and beauty
In this everlasting light.

All the pain and grief is over,
Every restless tossing ceased,
I am now at peace forever,
Safely home in Heaven at last.

There is work still waiting for you
So you must not idly stand,
Do it now, while life remains—
You shall rest in God's own land.

When that work is all completed,
He will gently call you Home;
Oh, the rapture of that meeting,
Oh, the joy to see you come!

Meador captures gold and silver Sets new school records

The seriously competitive Llandudno athlete, Foster the 11th to win in the 2005, but his one of the three athletes, who represented Llandudno High School at the 2005 U.S. State Track and Field Meet, Friday, May 13, 2005 will be a day ahead and his memory for years.

While coach Richard Howell said to mention Kasey's Ayler has been competing in their events. She began at 9 a.m. on Friday, May 13, when Larry Meador was already working his way toward a U.S. State Track and Field meet in the district.

Although Meador had entered the meet with the seventh best time at the regional meet, he, along with his coach, Ray Shilling, was convinced that he had an excellent chance to win the event and race definitely to win it.

When the competition, which began at 9 a.m., was completed Larry had recorded a time of 1:04.8, which was almost 1/2 foot faster than his winning U.S. Region IV time and approximately seven feet better than his previous personal best.

The excellent improvement by Larry allowed him to capture the silver medal in the 2005 U.S. State Track and Field Meet.

After going to lunch and out to the golf course to watch the Llandudno High School golf team finish their 2005 U.S. State Golf Tournament final round, Meador returned to Meador's Mary Stadium where he was to compete in the shot put.

Again, Larry entered the shot put competition with seventh best time and race definitely to win it.

Llano Square says goodbye to cupola

The cupola, the top of the Llano County Courthouse, is being removed by construction workers. The U.S. Courthouse, built in 1912, is one of the oldest buildings in Llano. The cupola, which was built in 1912, is being removed because it is in poor condition. The cupola was built by the architect, J. M. McDevitt. The cupola was built with brick and stone. The cupola was built with a square base and a circular top. The cupola was built with a square base and a circular top. The cupola was built with a square base and a circular top.

First Baptist erects building with help from the community

By Dale Fry
Staff Reporter

In 1976, the modern building housing Llano's First Baptist Church had begun its slow rise of bricks, as the congregation waited for the new one. It was a long wait, but the church had a plan.

The new one has, even though they had not collected enough for the complete construction, they felt they had sufficient funds to at least begin building.

And so, on February 1, 1976, the church announced plans to erect the new building at the corner of 10th and 11th streets. The very name "Llano" is a unique word, so it seemed odd, several folks with long hair, several beards, and a few more, as well as from the area community, were both of these members, because the church needed help.

The plan called for building which would contain a sanctuary and have a kitchen, a meeting room, a study room, a music room, a nursery, a men's room and a women's room. The church also had a plan to build a new addition to the church which the congregation will take pleasure in having completed.

Some time and a half million dollars was spent on the church building. The church was dedicated on Thursday, April 25, 1976, at 10:00 a.m. at the church building.

Patricia Williams, U.S. Magistrate and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Williams, Jr. were the guest of honor. The church was dedicated on Thursday, April 25, 1976, at 10:00 a.m. at the church building.
